MRS. JOHNSON ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Bound Over to Grand Jury on Charge of Slaying Husband

NO BOND FIXED

Municipal Courtroom Crowded at Arraignment Today

Mrs. Stella Mae Johnson, charged with the murder of her husband Hal R. Johnson, who died at the City Hospital a week ago Wednesday night, waived examination and entered a plea of not guilty before Judge William J. Martin in municipal court this afternoon about 1:30 o'clock.

She was not required to hear the affidavit but was asked to plead without the second reading, the affidavit having been read when she was brought into court last Monday.

Judge Martin explained to her that in the event of either plea she would be bound over to the grand jury. Mrs. Johnson asked for City Solicitor George T. Geran, having known him through his acquaintance with her late husband in the army. He advised her as to the outcome of either plea and officially entered the plea for her. He will be her legal advisor until another attorney is selected to represent her in the higher courts, Geran being unable to defend her because of his official duties as city solicitor.

No Bond Fixed

She was bound over without bond and committed to the county jail pending further proceeding.

One of the largest audiences seen in the courtroom in several months heard Judge Martin bind the woman over to the grand jury on the murder charge.

Although she sobbed almost continually during her stay in the courtroom she was considerably more composed than at her hearing Monday when she collapsed causing the hearing to be adjourned. Johnson's name was not mentioned during the hearing today as the mention of it apparently caused her to break down in Monday's hearing.

Slaying at Home

Mrs. Johnson shot her husband in the back with a 12 gauge shotgun two weeks ago today as he slept at their home at 795 south Davids st. He died with the full charge of the gun in his body.

No definite motives have been advanced, although several have been reported as likely. Johnson before his death said she feared he would send her to an asylum but claimed he intended to send her to her parents' home for a few days to regain her health following an illness. Another cause for the shooting advanced by his relatives was jealousy.

THREE BIDS FILED ON MARION BONDS

Requests for Higher Rate of Interest Hold Up Award

Three bids were submitted on three issues of city bonds yesterday afternoon in the office of City Auditor J. L. Landes. The bonds have not been awarded as each bid provided for a change in the rate of interest to be paid and certain legal steps are necessary for this change.

There was an issue of $8,550 for the purchase of a motor street sweeper and sewer cleaning machine, an issue of $3,057.50 for purchase and installation of traffic lights and signals and an issue of $1,110 for an automobile for the chief of the fire department. The first and last issues mature in 1933 and the second matures in 1932.

The Guardian Trust Co. of Cleveland submitted the best bid and will probably get the bonds if the council decides to change the interest rates. The bid was par with accrued interest and a premium of $[illegible] provided the interest rate is changed from 5½ per cent to 6 percent. The Ryan Sutherland Co. of Toledo bid par with accrued interest and a premium of $83 provided the city will change the rate of interest from 5½ percent to 6 percent. The First Citizens Corporation of Columbus placed a bid of par and accrued interest with a $[illegible] premium if the interest is changed to 6 percent.

REPORT MADE ON CEMETERY IMPROVEMENT

New Driveways, Additional Trees and Shrubbery in Program

Plans for several hundred feet of improved driveway, approximately 500 feet of new fence and landscaping work including new trees, shrubbery and flowers for the Marion cemetery were made at the seventy-second annual meeting of the Marion Cemetery association held this week in the Marion National bank. In addition to the work planned for this year many improvements are now under way at the cemetery.

Several hundred feet of hedge fence is now growing on the north and south borders of the recent addition to the cemetery and most of the ground in the addition is sufficiently drained now to be staked into lots soon. This was made possible by laying 2,150 feet of tile during the last year ending April 1. Of this 1,100 feet were 12 inch tile and 1,050 feet were six inch, all draining into the Quaque ditch. Two sections are ready to be staked.

Last Year's Improvements

Last year 3,000 feet of driveway was built in the cemetery, the base of which was made of gravel from a pit at the cemetery. The development of this pit has furnished much construction material at a great annual saving to the association. Superintendent E. A. Sloan in his report submitted to the association says 40,000 bedding plants were raised in the cemetery greenhouse last year. The approximate cost of operation of

They Wait For Tex

Life of Broadway 15 Minutes Late at Federal Court

NEW YORK, April 10—Texas Guinan, the life of Broadway's night life, kept the U. S. Federal Court waiting 15 minutes today before she appeared at the continuation of her trial for maintaining an alleged nuisance in connection with the sale of liquor at the Salon Royale Dusk-To-Dawn Club.

"I forgot all about it," explained Tex. "Besides I don't want to go to jail dressed like Little Eva."

Tex didn't hurt anybody's eyes.

SHE was dressed in a georgette yellow flower-designed dress under a [illegible] black velvet coat and wore a Little Bo Peep velvet hat.

She will take the witness stand today at the slightest opportunity and tell the world that she's only a hard-working showgirl and knows nothing about a nuisance in her night club.

Tex is charged by the Federal Government with maintaining a nuisance in connection with the sale of liquor at the Salon Royale.

OF course Texas is only speaking conversationally when she says "my club." Her defense will be that she is only hired as an entertainer and is not responsible for whether they sell rum or sauer kraut juice.

Texas again wore her diamond wristlet. It took a brave man to look it straight in the face.

Several of Tex's charming girls were in the courtroom to lend moral or otherwise support to their boss. One was in a complete blue creation and the other in a fawn-colored en

JUNIOR C. OF C. CONTRADICTS COUNCILMAN

Whysall Denies Organization Promised To Finance Airport Improvement

An apparent misunderstanding in regard to responsibility for improving the municipal airport has been revealed today in contradictory statements made by city councilmen and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Whysall, chairman of the Junior Chamber aviation committee, said today that the civic organization never agreed to equip and improve the city airport. This statement was made by Whysall in response to an expression by Councilman J. M. Schneider at council meeting Monday night to the effect that the Junior Chamber of Commerce had agreed to raise funds for improving the field in case the city purchased it.

Air Circus Proposed

Whysall stated further that the aviation committee had at one time considered staging an aerial circus in the form of a dedication air meet provided the city would allow it to use the municipal field. The proceeds from this project would have been used for improving the airport, Whysall stated. The proposition, however, was never officially placed before council according to Whysall. Nor were there ever any definite plans worked out, he said.

Discussion as to what improvements should be made at the airport arose more than two weeks ago when city council refused to sanction an expenditure of $150 for the purchase of timothy and alsike seed for seeding a 70 acre section of the field. Members of the council airport committee say that their committee is without funds to improve the field.

GOV. COOPER WILL PAY OWN EXPENSES

Not To Take Advantage of Appropriation for European Trip

COLUMBUS, April 10 — Gov. Myers Y. Cooper will pay his own expenses to Europe next fall even though the Abele bill passed by the legislators in their recent session provides a $5,000 fund for the governor, adjutant general and a commission of 10 to go to the foreign country.

This was the announcement made by Ohio's chief executive today.

Adj. Gen. Arthur Reynolds followed in the footsteps of Governor Cooper and made known his intention of also defraying his own expenses.

A gentle newspaper razzing given the bill when it was first introduced and again when it was passed is believed to be responsible for the officials' actions.

REBEL SOLDIERS KIDNAP MECHANIC OF AIR LINES

EL PASO, Tex., April 10—Kidnapped from a cafe in Juarez, Mexico, Al Cornen, mechanic for Standard Air Lines of California, was a prisoner aboard a rebel troop train at Juarez last night. Cornen, who was stationed at El Paso, told local newspapermen that he was taken from the cafe by rebel soldiers.

Paradise for Poor, French Writer's Description of America After Tour

PARIS, April 10—America is paradise for the poor, but hell for the rich, according to Paul Morand, well known French writer who spent two months investigating conditions in the land of the free.

"It is a veritable Eden for those who are happy with factory made objects turned out in mass production," said Morand. "But for real luxury one must come to Europe."

"What impressed me most in that new land were the amazing advantages offered to the middle and poorer classes, from the automatic restaurants to the splendid public libraries.

"Think of a free library, open and lighted up until 10 o'clock at night. It is unheard of in Europe. There pens, paper and pencils are given away."

Although New York is by no means all of America, the French traveler found all America trying to imitate New York. Even Europe, he believes, will wind up with skyscrapers and with automatic machinery to take the place of servants.

Morand said he came back to Europe exceedingly tired.

"The Americans," he pointed out, "work and live at twice the speed of Europeans. Two months over there are equal to four over here."

THURSDAY TO LAUNCH NEW TRAFFIC RULES

Officials Prepare for Enforcement of Ordinance Passed March 11

COMPLETE CODE

Every Phase of Parking and Driving Covered in List of Regulations

Marion motorists will be governed by a new set of traffic rules after Thursday when the traffic ordinance adopted by city council March 11 will become effective.

The most noticeable new features in the code are in the parking rules which provide for both diagonal and parallel parking and designate certain streets for one-side parking.

No special effort will be made by the police force to check up on those breaking the new code for the first few days, Chief Thompson said today. Due to planned street construction those streets to be torn up soon will not be marked. It is probable that painting of street markers will not be done until after streets are cleaned, as it is deemed useless to paint the city and dirty streets, Safety Director Strawser says. Stop signs, curb paint and no parking signs will be seen as soon as the weather permits the work to be done.

Municipal Judge William H. Martin would make no statement in regard to the probable penalties for the first drivers to be brought in under the new code.

The new code provides rules for pedestrians as well as motorists, penalties being provided for jay walking.

The limitation of parking to one side of some of the narrower downtown streets is expected to eliminate several fender-nicking situations here.

The "no parking" and time limit sections of streets will be adequately advertised with signs along the curb with the exception of sections to be torn up for construction within a few weeks. This includes parts of Center and Main sts.

Speed Limits

Speed limits defining reasonable and proper driving will remain at 15 miles an hour in the business districts and 25 miles an hour in other parts of the city. A speed limit of [illegible]

SANDUSKY BAY HIT BY TERRIFIC STORM

Docks Being Destroyed and Put-In-Bay Is Partially Inundated

SANDUSKY, April 10—What old timers said was the worst storm in their memory was raging over Lake Erie and Sandusky bay this afternoon and the damage probably will run into thousands.

Docks at almost every point on the lake in this vicinity were being destroyed and carried away by the turbulent water. At Put-in-Bay the dock at which Cleveland, Detroit and Toledo boats land was submerged.

The water never has known to have been so high, said Mayor F. H. Alexander of the village of Put-in-Bay. The mayor reported by telephone that the Perry memorial grounds are inundated as are many roads in the vicinity. Crews [illegible] are working to save boats and other [illegible] property [illegible]

Severe losses are being suffered by the [illegible] fishing industry with [illegible] and their catch destroyed.

The wind from the northeast was still increasing in velocity this afternoon. The Cedar Point highway also was reported under water.

Kelleys, Middle Bass and smaller islands off the lake shore reported conditions similar to those at Put-in-Bay.

$200,000 LOSSES IN CLEVELAND BLAZE

Flames Sweep Building in Heart of Downtown District

CLEVELAND, April 10—Losses estimated at $200,000 were suffered when a disastrous fire swept the Buckeye building in the heart of the downtown district here early today.

Two men who had just come to work were trapped in the building by the flames and were rescued by firemen. Louis H. Forman, manager of the Liberty Vest Co., one of the two, suffered a severe cut on the hand in the escape.

Traffic was blocked on two streets as all downtown fire companies worked to prevent the flames from spreading. A high wind added to the danger.

Farquar was struck and killed by an auto here last night. The driver was exonerated by police.

The man had been associated with the furnace industry since 1885, and was widely known in those circles.

DAWES NAMED AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN

Former Vice President's Selection Is Announced by White House

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10—Formal announcement was made at the White House today that Charles G. Dawes is to be the next ambassador to Great Britain.

The announcement came as no surprise for it had been known that inquiry has been made of the British for its approval as to whether the former vice president was persona grata. A reply was received from London this morning that General Dawes is entirely acceptable to the British government and the announcement immediately followed.

General Dawes is now in San Domingo, where he is heading a commission of financial experts to revise that little republic's fiscal system.

Just when General Dawes will take over his post is problematical. It depends largely upon how soon he can conclude his work in San Domingo. Ambassador Houghton sails for home on April 27 and for several weeks it is probable the embassy will be left in charge of the first secretary.

Step to Harmony

The selection of General Dawes for the British post marks another long step toward the restoration of that complete harmony in the Republican party which was threatened in the bitterness of the struggle over the presidential nomination last summer.

While there is no question of politics entering into the selection of General Dawes—for his qualifications are outstanding and unquestioned from any angle—it is nevertheless characterized by party leaders in Washington as a very fortunate choice from a political standpoint.

Dawes Was Candidate

Dawes himself was a candidate, although passively so, for the nomination which went to Mr. Hoover. The former vice president was active in behalf of his old friend Frank O.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYE HELD AS BOMB MAKER

Detectives Grow Suspicious When Package Is Investigated

NEW YORK, April 10—Thomas Callegy, middle-aged porter at the general postoffice here, confessed to the federal authorities today that he mailed the bomb to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt which was found in the postoffice last Sunday.

He did it with the idea of being made a hero of, figuring that would bring him promotion in the government service, he is alleged to have admitted. It was Callegy who "found" the bomb on the postoffice floor and, for a day or two, some newspaper stories did make a hero of him.

Several years ago a porter in the Chicago postoffice was promoted after he had discovered a bomb.

He was locked up in a police station here on a charge of violating the federal statute dealing with sending explosives through the mails. He was to be arraigned later before a United States commissioner.

The detectives became suspicious when they noticed that, while the floor was scorched, the wrapper on the bomb was not. They concluded some one had built a fire under the package. Their suspicions were intensified when experts reported that the bomb was a "dud" and could not have exploded.

COLUMBUS, April 10—Talented young artists of music were given full sway on the program of the joint convention of the Ohio Federation of Music clubs and the Ohio Teachers' association at the second session of the conclave here today.

LINDY COMES OUT OF SKIES, QUIETS WORRY

Drops Down at Brownsville, but Refuses To Say Where He'd Spent Night

HOPS OFF SOON AGAIN

Concern Had Been Felt for Fliers' Safety on Trip to U S

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 10—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who arrived here unexpectedly from Mexico at 9:30 o'clock this morning after he had been reported lost, took the air again at 11 o'clock today for an unannounced destination.

The flying colonel did not say where he had spent the night but it was believed he landed at Tampico late yesterday.

It was believed Colonel Lindbergh would continue to New York.

He hopped off from Valbuena field, Mexico City, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday.

At 11 o'clock Marion time today more than 20 hours had elapsed since Colonel Lindbergh had hopped off and there was considerable worry as to his whereabouts.

In Washington the war department showed little concern over the flier's disappearance, holding steadfast to the belief that he has landed somewhere and is safe.

After the night had passed without any definite and official word of Colonel Lindbergh's whereabouts, the complacent trust in his skill to overcome any and all air difficulties began to waver.

Lindbergh hopped off at Valbuena field just outside of Mexico City at 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

Nothing more was heard of him until an International News Service dispatch from Mexico City said that President Portes Gil had received a report from Piedras Negras that a plane believed to be that of Colonel Lindbergh passed over that place headed north at 9 o'clock last night. Piedras Negras is on the Texas-Mexican border opposite Eagle Pass.

When Lindbergh took off at Mexico City he told International News Service that his destination was New York.

DEPARMENT STORES JOIN IN NEW PLAN

Three Local Firms Announce Saturday Night Opening To Start April 20

Three Marion department stores will set aside a rule of more than 10 years standing April 20 when they make Saturday night opening a regular feature of their programs. The opening of the department stores will make Saturday night opening practically universal here.

The three stores to announce a change in policy are Uhler-Phillips Co., Warner & Edwards Co. and the Frank Bros. Co. All departments in these stores will be open until 9 o'clock each Saturday night according to announcements by officials of the concerns.

Decision of the Uhler-Phillips Co. to open its store on Saturday nights, Morgan Burke, manager, said today, came as a result of the recent experiment in opening the basement store. About seven months ago the company began keeping its basement store open for the convenience of out of town customers and those in the city who were not able to shop during the day. The experiment proved successful, Burke stated, and led to the decision of opening the entire store on Saturday nights.

DOVER, April 10—Search for Ernest Knapp, 42, who has been missing for a week, turned to the Tuscarawas river here today.

Preparations for setting off a charge of dynamite are also being made.

URGES NEW JAIL

County Commissioner Would Provide Facilities for 250 Prisoners

AKRON, April 10—Construction of a new Summit county jail was proposed here by County Commissioner Chris Weaver. His suggestion follows criticism of jail facilities by grand juries and Prosecutor Don Isham.

If Weaver's idea meets with approval, immediate steps may be taken for a bond issue to provide funds. Weaver would have facilities provided for 250 prisoners.

In connection with a recent survey of Ohio county jails, Prosecutor Isham gave the capacity of the Summit jail as 74, and the average number of prisoners as 150. Including a basement, where there also are offices, the annex is four stories high.

It is still a fact that the grandest thing a grand looking man can wear is a plug hat.

JOAN LOWELL HURT AS BOOK IS RAPPED

"It's Part of Me," Young Author Says, Adds That Incidents Were Colored

NEW YORK, April 10—Joan Lowell, author [illegible] back in New York today from a [illegible] to the country and she made no effort to hide the fact that she is annoyed at the discussion going over her book "Cradle of the Deep."

An inquiry to establish the authenticity of the book has been started by the editorial board of the Book of the Month club. It has been charged that the book is not an authentic autobiography.

Miss Lowell said the book is part of her and she cannot endure it to be picked to pieces. She declared she assumed the [illegible] a little coloring here and a little there [illegible] and that also they liked the colloquial style of narration.

"I tried my honest best to give the readers their money's worth without cheating them with any bunk of the [illegible]," she said.

The publishers of Miss Lowell's book, Simon and Schuster, made a public announcement which said in part:

"At the outset we recognized that Joan, like many persons who have had stirring experiences, had a normal tendency to color the strict pattern of precise fact with occasional dramatic trimming.

"Much of her story was compounded of hearsay and memory as well as observation and experience. A literal [illegible] autobiography was never intended by the author nor was it featured as such by the publishers."

Many a man who doesn't care how much his fellowmen burn themselves is called broadminded.

It Challenges Your Interest in These Important Ways

EASY TO BUY
For Instance, the Coach $260 Down, and monthly Payments of $47.16
Your present car will probably cover the entire first Payment.
The H. M. C. Purchase Plan Offers the lowest available finance terms on the balance.

EASY TO OWN
On our own streets here in Marion, Essex the Challenger, under competent observation averaged 18 to 21½ miles per gallon. The average owner in this city can expect 18 to 20 miles and upward. Hundreds of records all over the country during Challenger Week prove Essex economy. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering millions of miles of operation, are lowest of any car they ever tested.

Essex the Challenger sweeps aside the barriers of price class. It challenges the performance, the style, the luxurious roomy comfort of any car at any price, on the basis that no other gives you back so much for every dollar you put in. That is why the big buying swing is to Essex. That is why motorists by thousands are switching from past favorites, and trading in their present cars for the big values Essex the Challenger gives.

Daily Proverb— To give a reason for fancy were to weigh the fire and measure the wind

So live that you will be prepared to take out your car for a Sunday drive

A few days ago Honolulu reported a temperature of fifty nine and New York City one of eighty four There is no escaping the conviction that our weather is fearfully and wonderfully made

We take it for granted of course that the intensive campaign up in Cleveland to raise $317 or something like that to secure three elk came to a successful conclusion

Unless by some means they are able to multiply their number sufficiently to make it a telling political force there's mighty little ground for hope by the paragraphers that congress will consider a $300 000 000 revolving fund to keep them from going to the wall

Still it must not be taken that Mr Coolidge holds that a man has to serve eight years in the presidency to acquire an inflated opinion of his own importance

Governor Cooper urged the general assembly not to pass any laws other than measures absolutely necessary and the assembly turned out 233—good bad and indifferent Legislative bodies may mean well but experience shows that there is always with them quite a chasm between good intention and result

What we can not understand is how prices are going to be maintained at the maximum even though they be not raised in the face of the total failure of the growers down there to kill the Georgia peach crop with the early frosts

A Britisher has invented a device which tests are said to have demonstrated makes an airplane foolproof but it's always possible that those conducting the tests do not realize how persistent some fools are

Douglas Harrison says that no single act would do so much for world peace as the suppression of all national anthems It's hard to understand what beneficial result could be worked if the great mass of the people of other lands do not know theirs better than we here in America know ours

The Detroit Free Press suggests that the author of a particularly infantile current song may yet explain that when he was three years old he fell out of his swing But that would not explain the mentalities of the physical adults making use of it

Murder Decreasing in Britain

Official statistics given out in London show that there were but 110 murders in Great Britain last year which means that murder over there is not keeping proportionate pace with the increase in population

Such a record is almost negligible compared with the murder record of this country where some of our larger centers of population have records two to three times larger than that of all the British Isles

But amazingly low as this British taking of human life is when compared with the awful record of our own country it is far less amazing than the record of punishment legally inflicted on the murderers or self inflicted to evade almost certain legal punishment

Of the total of 110 murders nineteen were cases of infanticide Of the remaining 91 murders ninety nine were committed by adults and forty one of the adult murderers committed suicide Of the remaining fifty eight nineteen were executed What were the fates of the remaining thirty nine the statistics cabled to this country do not show

Various explanations of the wide divergence between the British murder record and the murder record over here have been offered prohibition among them with its consequent army of bootlegger gangsters and gunmen But to this it may be said that Great Britain is also a sufferer from the bootlegging evil

A far more probable explanation is the manner in which the British law and the British courts work together to punish crime There collusion between the courts and the police authorities on the one hand and the criminal world on the other does not exist Under the British law tricks and unscrupulous lawyers are not permitted to befuddle juries Criminals are run down quickly and their cases handled expeditiously Long delays between their crimes and their trials do not occur Years do not intervene as is often the case over here between the commission of the crime and the inflicting of punishment in cases where the accused are found guilty Legal technicalities are not permitted to defeat punishment Justice is swift and sure.

A Change for the Better.

The [illegible] of [illegible] and "go" to [illegible] Mayor Emery Murphy has [illegible] before two of our [illegible] one [illegible] and [illegible] have [illegible] on [illegible]

[illegible] at [illegible] in the ma[illegible] the [illegible] a man [illegible] to [illegible] who is [illegible]

[illegible] the mayor told the members of [illegible] had been [illegible] by men who [illegible] of a job or wanted [illegible] job [illegible] Republicans or Democrats It's not [illegible] of a job you know If you just sit around the[illegible] and take things as they come show no initiative and do nothing but draw your money

The mayor further told the Rotarians how little mayors had cooperated with council in recent years appearing at council meetings only when some matter was up for discussion or action in which they had particular interest He also spoke of reforms introduced which he felt would work for the best interest of the community

But to many a more interesting talk than that made before the Rotary club was the one to the [illegible] in which he announced that a new policy had been inaugurated in buying supplies that at present purchases were not limited to one dealer but were made from first one then another and that he had made arrangements to purchase amiesite in the future the city's purchases of which have run into many thousands of dollars in recent years at a saving of $2 50 a ton and disclosed how the city had been under contract up to the first of the present month to pay $10 50 a ton for that material He said he had arranged to buy amiesite hereafter at the market price of eight dollars a ton and hoped to buy it in the near future at $7 50 or even $7 25

It may be said here that the city paid $10 50 a ton F O B in 1927 and 1928 It would be very interesting to know why for two years and very probably much longer the city paid $10 50 for a material which is may be bought for $[illegible] And it would be still more interesting to know why the city should enter into a contract to do so If a decided saving could be made by purchasing material under contract from one concern there might be excuse for entering into a contract if legally authorized but it's hard to understand why a contract should be entered into to purchase from one concern at an advanced price especially when the purchaser is a municipality and supported as all municipalities are by the entire citizenship

We believe that the public in the light of his disclosure regarding the city's purchase of amiesite in recent years will agree with Mayor Murphy in his view that there has been a woeful abuse of business principles in the handling of the city's business for some time past We are glad to learn that a change has been inaugurated but at the same time we can not help wondering how long the old way of doing things would have continued had not Mayor Murphy brought about the change

Mrs Gifford Pinchot was taken off a train at Savannah Georgia and treated at a hospital there for possible poisoning as she had taken hair tonic mistaking it for medicine In this day and age a lot of people take hair tonic but not necessarily through mistake

Mrs Minnie Kennedy mother of Aimee Semple McPherson is being sued by a Seattle clergyman for $10 000 for alleged breach of promise to marry him We would hate to think that the gold digging industry has spread to the ministry

United States customs officers at Miami seized jewelry and uncut diamonds valued at $100 000 discovered by them under the false bottom of a trunk the owner of which was taken off the steamer at Havana The way in which the customs people have been rounding up gem smugglers of late is soon liable to throw a kink into the business

View Pain with Suspicion.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Everybody hates to have pain A man will do almost anything to be relieved of it He will try any prescription offered That is why pain killers have such sale

There is little choice in pains It seems to you the particular pain you have is the worst that ever happened to anybody You just can't stand it

Perhaps I have told you the story of the old lady who telephoned a new doctor at 2 o'clock in the morning She wanted him to come over at once I can't stand this pain another minute!

How long have you had it asked the sleepy doctor Thirty years and I can't endure it any longer

Some patient persons do put up with pain for a long time They appear to regard it as inevitable or have faith to believe it will wear out after a while But the time comes when resistance is broken and there is a demand for relief

There are many cases of drug addiction that can be traced to the desire for control of pain Unfortunately there are tens of thousands of drug addicts who have no such excuse for their condition We can pity the sufferer who becomes addicted but not the moral addict who takes the drug for the physical enjoyment he gets out of it Joy riding and pain killing are two different things

What should we do about pain?

There is always a cause for pain I need not tell you this But many times it is difficult to find that cause Yet it must be located if a real cure is to be effected

Toothache and earache are so definitely located that in most instances the cause of the pain is readily found Headache neuralgia neuritis rheumatic pains and pain in the abdomen are more obscure as to cause

It is not natural to have pain Persistent or periodical pain must always be viewed with suspicion It must not be disregarded Even though it may come from something of no particular consequence in itself the efficiency and happiness of the victim will be impaired You can't do your work well if you are suffering But there may be a cause which has other possibilities worse than pain

I plead with you to give careful attention to any annoying symptom the cause of which is a mystery to you For your peace of mind as well as for the relief of pain find out what is wrong

There are few troubles very few indeed that cannot be treated successfully in the first stages It isn't fair to your dear ones your family and associates and particularly to yourself to neglect a searching examination to locate the cause of your misery

Diamond Mine Workers

BY TEMPLE MANNING

The greatest most prolific diamond mines in the world are located in the Kimberley region in British South Africa Since 1869 when diamonds were discovered in the blue clay like soil the name Kimberley has become a synonym for those precious stones

It is interesting to note the elaborate precautions taken to preclude the possibility of the natives stealing the stones All native workers in the mines are segregated Large fenced in areas wired on top called compounds house the miners After they leave the mine they are literally herded into these compounds and locked in They are not allowed to leave until [illegible] nor is any one admitted to visit

As the native leaves the mine he is thoroughly examined by overseers lest he might try to secrete one of the stones about his body As he wears nothing but a loin cloth this might seem to be a simple matter but many of them have devised ingenious ways to hide the gems The overseer peers into the native's mouth between his toes under his armpits Some of the larger mines are even equipped with fluoroscopes to determine if the [illegible] native has swallowed a stone

It is needless for me to add that these mines are probably the most elaborately equipped in the world They are lighted throughout with electricity and every device to facilitate the mining of the stone has been introduced —Copyright 1929 Newspaper Feature Service Inc

Editorial Opinion

FANATICISM DOESN'T HELP

The best welfare of the United States demands some orderly modification of the dry law which will have public support and approval and will further the cause of genuine temperance The present situation is little less than dreadful and is going from bad to worse But we do not believe the extravagances of some of the wet rejoicings over the outcome of the recent prohibition act repeal vote in Wisconsin are going to help any

When the president of the Association Against Prohibition yells Which will be the next state to take its place in the ranks of revolt he uses an ugly word and becomes guilty of something very much resembling incitement to sedition And the effort of a well known special writer to make Mrs de King prohibition's Dred Scott is a vicious misconparison which is so gross it is fantastic

Such outbursts suggest cerebral excitement approaching temporary mental unbalance Their chief result will be to make fanatical wets and fanatical drys both more fanatical than ever and so make confusion worse confounded They will tend to widen a breach which must be closed if the prohibition question ever is to be settled in a way that will redound to the good of the nation and with a minimum of travel through the sea of trouble

There is little hope that the country ever can be pulled out of its mess until extremists on both sides of the prohibition question are benched while reasoning people with a sense of proportion get together and settle things

The present growing increase of intolerance and tendency toward resort to violence in both word and deed existing among wets and drys alike presages a dangerous and possibly disastrous national brain storm unless something can be done in the way of applying a brake

The situation is ridiculously tragic and tragically ridiculous —Detroit Free Press

A TRUE BUTCHERY

General Calles wields a vivid pen as well as a wicked sword This most infamous of rebellions wires the Mexican generalissimo has found a tomb in the battle today at La Reforma The insurgent soldiers abandoned their cowardly leaders and fought bravely but hopelessly against the federal troops who achieved a decisive victory The field was strewn with rebel dead A true butchery!

The Mexicans speak a language that is not easily translated into the phraseology of more temperate climates The apparent bloodthirstiness of General Calles may be no more than the appearance of bombast with which his report of the battle is tainted Whether or not the revolution found its tomb in La Reforma remains to be discovered The true butchery may mean only that the enemy suffered heavy loss

The Mexicans are mighty however and their revolutions have provided many examples of what would pass for butchery in countries more squeamish about bloodletting Quarter is seldom asked or given The present conflict seems to be running true to form with the federal enjoying the upper hand The fact that the field at La Reforma was not strewn with federal dead was merely one of history's accidents

With their neighbors battling [illegible] as long as these are confined south of the Rio Grande Americans are not directly concerned but even gringos may hope that some good will come from all this slaughter Otherwise it will be sheer waste of human material The rebel probably expected the government to deal gently with them as it had done with Obregon's assassinator but when he took the field Calles threw away the gloves The ultimate effect may be to bring to his distressed country a relief from further revolts in the near future which will justify the ruthlessness with which he is attempting to [illegible] the present uprising —Detroit Free Press

The Ether.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

Will you kindly explain the existence of ether a necessity [illegible] on does it perform in aid of a sho[illegible] hurrying through space or for the [illegible] electrical or other wave which [illegible] space?—F G R New York

The idea of an ether filling all space in connection with the undulatory light Newton thought that light [illegible] of particles of some kind given off [illegible] and other luminous bodies and [illegible] space in all directions That needed But the Dutch scientist Christian maintained that light must be a [illegible] nomenon and in order to account [illegible] transference of such waves acro[illegible] invented the ether as a medium fo[illegible] the waves The waves were figu[illegible] dulations in the ether in analo[illegible] waves

If light or electric radiation [illegible] consist of waves you must see for that ether or something of a simi[illegible] is needed for the formation of the wav[illegible] Huygens and others following him [illegible] to explain the reflection and ref[illegible] light as well as the phenomenon cal[illegible] ference of light by means of the ethe[illegible] it became firmly fixed in the minds [illegible] and completely displaced [illegible] puscular theory of Newton

Of course the ether would [illegible] projectile in passing through sp[illegible] might if resistant retard it Howe[illegible] planets and comets seemed to tra[illegible] without retardation it was assumed ether was of such a nature that freely through even solid bodies [illegible] opposing their motions This was a morsel to swallow—this hypothesis of a [illegible] medium which was material [illegible] carry waves and at the same tim[illegible] material that it offered no resistan[illegible] to a thing—but the scientists found [illegible] useful in explaining a multitude of things that they shut their eyes to [illegible] sistencies or put on the blinders of mathematics and walked with [illegible] with a friendly ghost And man[illegible] are keeping up the intimacy stil[illegible] Oliver Lodge thinks he has found [illegible] itself in the ether

But lately uneasy doubts have arisen [illegible] stein has boldly challenged the [illegible] an ether but inasmuch as he has to sub[illegible] for it something even more inconceivabl[illegible] practical minds—a four dimensional [illegible] pound called space time which though subject to having waves is thorough[illegible] tested with mathematical crumples [illegible] do things that waves never dreamed o[illegible] situation for the average citizen [illegible] cleared

On the other hand the ghost of Ne[illegible] light corpuscles has arisen in the ne[illegible] of the light quanta which apparently [illegible] no need of an ether And yet there are [illegible] nomena which refuse to be explained on quantum hypothesis and insist upon [illegible] ing the ether or something else that vibrate for their comfort In conseq[illegible] the theorists are hard at work trying to [illegible] the facts and hypotheses are curling a[illegible] like the lassoes of cattle ropers in a stamp[illegible] Meanwhile Einstein is striving to h[illegible] whole into a single field which will exp[illegible] everything—except itself —Copyright [illegible] International Feature Service Inc

If I Were A Man | If I Were A Girl

I WOULDN'T be a flashy dresser. I wouldn't wear my hat cocked rakishly over one eye and run to passionate ties and fancy silk shirts and socks that rival the rainbow in gaudiness of hue. It's only in the animal kingdom that the male of the species can wear the brightest colors and get away with it. When it comes to human beings it's the Girl Friend's privilege to glitter like a Christmas tree.

I'd bear that fact in mind and leave the flaming crimsons and vivid oranges and brilliant emerald greens to her. In the matter of diamond rings and ornate gold-banded gidly hat bands I'll check my self expression with a firm and ruthless hand. A snappy sartorial get up may attract a lot of attention—but attention and admiration are entirely different things.

The man with the flashing stick pin and tight fitting suit may look like a million dollars to himself, but in the eyes of the Girl Friend he's just a phony nickel.

I'D be appreciative.

I wouldn't fall on a man's neck every time he took me out and sing a perpetual hymn of "what a wonderful time I was having" but I would give an occasional intimation at least that I was enjoying myself.

There are some girls who accept everything a man does for them as a matter of course and appreciation is a word they've never learned the meaning of. A girl like that changes boy friends pretty often. No fellow's going to be sap enough to keep on spending money on a girl to give her a good time unless the girl shows a little animation about it.

Why should he send her flowers only to have her say "Oh yes your flowers came" and act as if she received flowers three times a day? Or why should he take her to dinner and the theater when all she can say is "It wasn't so bad"?

It's human nature to want appreciation and men want a little extra dose of it from the girls they go out of their way to do things for. Do you blame us?

W[illegible] laugh Hannan hurried rapidly as his troubled [illegible] permit. Once in the halls and corridors that he knew there was little that Mallingham would [illegible].

The darkness was a [illegible] endeavor for he had [illegible] finding his way in the [illegible]. He knew it must be [illegible] but no sun would shine [illegible] windows of Valhalla [illegible]. It was even a [illegible] whether he should ever [illegible] day again.

[illegible] hovered over the [illegible] there voices were [illegible]. Now and then came the [illegible] of footsteps restlessly [illegible].

[illegible] ned a door and looked [illegible] candle was burning off the [illegible]. A tall, laughing young [illegible] red hair sat beside a girl. They were holding [illegible]; they were silent. Neither [illegible] Hannan. He smiled [illegible] turning [illegible] that the air was thick [illegible] and plaster dust. He ascended another flight [illegible] and turned toward the [illegible]. Now and then he [illegible] of [illegible]. In the [illegible] there was a [illegible] that sounded [illegible] and grinding, making him feel [illegible] was in a [illegible].

Suddenly he stopped and hugged close to the wall. A [illegible] opened at the [illegible] end of the hall and [illegible] toward him. From the [illegible] sounds Hannan [illegible] impression of the [illegible] approaching. With darkness all around and his ears keyed to a high degree of acute[illegible] [illegible] of a footfall [illegible] a great deal. This person was small and light and evidently anxious to make as little noise as possible.

As the footsteps [illegible] he caught the faintest [illegible]. He waited and a few paces further the footfalls [illegible]. A door opened then closed again.

Silently Hannan moved forward, stopping [illegible] the door that had just closed. [illegible] he listened [illegible] the knob [illegible] a bit [illegible]. It was very still in there. He could not even [illegible] the sound of breathing. For a little while he stood still, all his senses reaching out and [illegible]. Now a sound came [illegible] but in an instant it registered a meaning on his brain.

"Don't shoot, Viola," he whispered.

A gasp sounded in the darkness.

"Pelly wanted to shoot me. Now it's you. Why do people want to shoot me?"

"Who—who is Pelly?" came in a quavering voice.

"Mallingham. I call him Pelly because I don't like him. I call you Viola because—because I do like you."

She caught her breath. "And who are you?"

"Hannan. I haven't seen you since the time we were in the taxicab. I don't see you now, for that matter. But just wait."

He struck a match and looked about the room. Every room at Valhalla Notch appeared to be equipped with a pair of candles and so was this one. He lighted one of them, then approached the girl. She stood against the wall looking half frightened and half amused. A pistol, a small and simple affair, hung limply from her hand.

"No pearl bangle," Hannan remarked, examining the weapon. "Don't you know all heroines should carry pearl handled pistols?"

"But I'm not a heroine."

"Yes, you are. You are stunning and you are mysterious and full of surprises. You bob up everywhere. Like the wind you come and like the wind you go. What more can one expect of a heroine?"

"Oh, if that's all I suppose I can qualify."

"You qualify with bells on," Hannan told her. He looked into her pale, delicately rounded face. Her eyes were smiling up at him but there was a hint of dread in the hazel depths. "I was told you were ill."

"I was. I had to have a doctor . . . But I'm better now."

Hannan looked deep into the hazel eyes. His own twinkled [illegible].

"Somebody told me you were on your way to a place called [illegible] but got [illegible] the [illegible]. Is that true?"

"Doesn't it sound [illegible]? I was [illegible] from [illegible]."

"It was a beautiful [illegible] he [illegible] caught you."

She lowered [illegible] eyes down at the floor.

"I suppose it would be useless to ask [illegible] real reason [illegible] coming here."

The brown head [illegible] emphatically.

"Who were you [illegible] when you passed me in the [illegible]?"

"Somebody."

"For me no other word."

She looked up and [illegible] him with a mocking gaze.

"You are just a [illegible] conceited Mr. Hannan Martin. [illegible] for Mr. Curry. I knew all the time where you were."

[illegible]

"[illegible] not unless—" She faltered.

"Unless Mallingham [illegible] him," Hannan finished for her.

She did not reply. The candle was casting a wavering glow over her pale face. The creaking of straining timbers was the only sound. Here in the upper parts of the house, the gradual process of destruction [illegible].

"Yes, Mr. Hannan Martin."

He had been [illegible] the pistol which was still [illegible].

"Call me Hannan," he commanded, making a playfully [illegible] gesture with the pistol. "Call me Hannan or I shoot."

"All right—Hannan."

"That's better." He returned the weapon to her. "I want you to tell me a little secret, Viola. You saw something very strange the night you came here. You and the caretaker were in the little hall off the library. Suddenly the door started to open. What else did you see?"

A shudder shook her slim figure. "I wish you wouldn't ask me that, Hannan."

"I must know. You saw some one—some one you knew. Who was it?"

"I'm not sure. I—I know him. I saw the face only for a second and then it was gone. It was too awful! Don't ask me any more, Hannan."

"All right," said Hannan gently. It seems that the recollection, vague and fragmentary though it had been, distressed her. "There is just one thing we ought to be clear about. Do you suppose the person you saw, or thought you saw, is still behind the iron door? If so——"

"No, I'm sure he isn't. He couldn't be, because——" Another paroxysm shook her.

"There now." Impulsively, as if to soothe a hysterical child, he wound his arm about her neck. "I promise to ask no more questions for a while. Brace up, little heroine."

She gave him a wan, tremulous smile. "Do you suppose," she murmured, "that we shall ever get out of this house alive?"

"I doubt it," said Hannan, and bent over quickly and kissed her. "There—I've lived to kiss you, anyway. Now let fate do its worst!"

A blush rose like a radiant bloom to her pale cheek. "You are a very presumptuous young man," she said reprovingly, removing his arm from her shoulder.

"And a fraud besides," Hannan brazenly confessed. "I stole that kiss under false pretenses. I'm sure everything will come out all right and that I'm going to live long enough to repeat the offense."

"And get your face slapped," she warned him. Suddenly she grew grave. "I wonder why you are thinking of me, Hannan. The way I took the letter away from you when we were in the taxi——"

"Very cleverly done. I envy you your light touch, Viola. Don't think I hold it against you, though. In the first place you didn't get away with it."

"No," she admitted a little ruefully. "I didn't."

"And in the second place I suspected that the thing you did wasn't half so wicked as it looked."

"And you still think so?"

"Now I'm sure of it. I'm so sure of it that I'm not going to ask you to explain. Better run along now and get some rest."

She shook her head wearily. "I don't want to go to my room. Whenever I lie down and try to sleep I hear those dreadful noises overhead."

"Then try the library," Hannan suggested. "The noises aren't so bad there and you will find a comfortable sofa. I'll go with you part of the way."

Strengthened by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Berlin, N. H.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was in a family way because I was run down and falling away every day. My food wouldn't digest and I could not do my work. I had to have a hired girl all the time. I took several medicines before I tried yours but none would help me. A friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and told me to try it as it would help me a lot. Your medicines have done me a lot of good and I cannot praise them enough. [illegible] twisting Podgreen's nose. I don't care if he twists it when Podgreen is well and strong again. I would like to see him do it. But I am not going to let anyone pick on him while he is skinny and sick. I told Jubilee [illegible] when I [illegible] him down by his [illegible] this morning and if he could talk he would of said that he didn't blame me.

When I had got my work done and had come in to feed my [illegible] the Lost Bag of Tripe's mother had [illegible] to my mother and told her that I had punched her little boy [illegible] that he hadn't done a thing to me. My mother asked her if she had punished him for getting Annabelle [illegible] all [illegible] up and she said she certainly had. She had made him go without [illegible] for supper. My mother asked her what they had for [illegible] and she said they didn't have anything. She said they didn't have the heart to set there and have [illegible] when her little boy couldn't have any. So then my mother said [illegible] would punish me by not letting me have any strawberry shortcake for supper. And the Lost Bag of Tripe's [illegible]. Oh [illegible] fresh strawberry [illegible] my [illegible]. Oh no! We wouldn't have the heart to have them when Thomas Aristides was not able to have them. So then his mother almost hit my mother in the face with the [illegible]. Then my mother turned around and told [illegible] at the [illegible] that I had hit the Lost Bag of Tripe [illegible] his [illegible] said [illegible] red and green and purple. Then my father started to get up and [illegible] A fella oughtn't to be punished twice for the same thing, he [illegible] when he gets [illegible] he was punished [illegible] and I said the teacher had [illegible] got down again but he got down awful slow like he might change up his mind at any minute. Then my mother asked questions and I told her how come, and my father said I had done right. I would never let the strong abuse the weak. I told him I wouldn't when I got big enough to keep him from licking me. My grandfather hollered and my mother laughed and my father got red and said, 'You win.' I don't know what he meant, but I am [illegible]

Podgreen didn't show up at the school today so I was hoping all day that having his nose twisted didn't make him have a relapse. If it did I will go after the Lost Bag of Tripe again. I bet there will be strawberries again this year. I dr[illegible] a bit full every time I think of them.

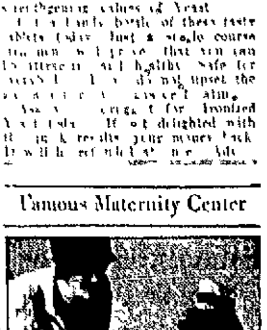
Famous Maternity Center



"1929 Babies Will Be the Best Behaved," Experts Say

"The well baby is the happy baby," say authorities on baby care "and the 1929 mother knows more about keeping babies well than any of her predecessors!"

At the famous Maternity Center in New York one of the important things thousands of mothers learn is the safe cleansing of baby's clothes.

"If soap containing harmful alkali is used to wash baby's garments his tender skin may be irritated," say the Maternity Center experts.

"At the Maternity Center Lux is used for cleansing all of baby's things—clothes, blankets, and even toys.

"Analysis has shown that Lux contains no harmful alkali—and therefore is safe. Since with Lux there is no rubbing to harden and mat wool fibres, baby things washed in Lux stay soft through hundreds of launderings, keeping baby comfortable and happy."

MOTHERS!

For your children's sake, do me this favor!

Says TERESA GLEASON

"As a teacher in the public schools, I come into contact daily with many children. The kind of nourishment a child is given is plainly evident in his handling of work, in his attitude toward his work, his teacher and his class room.

"A child that is fed without regard to the effect on his health will bring an irritability to school that spoils his spirit and retards the general go-aheadness of the schoolroom, while a child that is given a good start at breakfast and at lunch time brings to his lessons good nature, spontaneity and wholesomeness that gives the teacher a period of delight.

"If I could be granted a favor, I would ask that mothers, instead of serving indigestion-making, nerve-pulling, health breaking beverages, try easily-made Instant Postum made with milk just to find the good effect of a health giving drink on dispositions and discipline.

"It is certainly an inexpensive way of serving all-'round happiness, health and satisfaction—a way within the reach of every mother."

TERESA F. GLEASON
2 Stillman Place, North End, Boston, Mass.

THOUSANDS of mothers have already discovered the value of serving their children Instant Postum made with milk. And in so doing, they have found that they were not only doing a favor to the teachers of their children—they were doing a favor to the children—and to themselves.

For this wonderful hot drink—a drink that combines the nourishment of milk with the wholesomeness of whole wheat and bran—builds children up physically. And children love the flavor! Even children who won't drink milk alone drain their cups of Postum made with milk.

This drink so easy to make! Just a teaspoonful of Instant Postum in the cup, fill with hot (not boiled) milk, sweeten to taste—the drink is ready!

Order a can of Instant Postum today from your grocer—serve it to your children at breakfast tomorrow. And try it yourself, made either with milk or boiling water, in place of caffein beverages. It's just as good for you as it is for the children!

PROGRAM SET FOR THURSDAY

to Feature Radio Bill

BY MAC L. ROY

RADIO listeners will be transported to New York Thursday night when vivid sketches of the human elements involved in the daily hustle and roar of the American metropolis will be presented over the WEAF network of the NBC system when a series of special "Rapid Transit" broadcasts will be heard. The program goes on the air at 9:30 o'clock.

Certain scenes from former programs, laid on the sidewalks of New York, in the city's night resorts, high above Park av., and on the lower East Side, struck such responsive chords that there were insistent demands for repeat performances. These have been grouped together in a special series of request programs beginning April 11.

The rapidly shifting scenes of the sketches, with interludes of jazz, create an effect of kaleidoscopic realism like actual trips to the parts of town depict. By means of contrast, the authors bring into sharp relief the cross-currents of everyday hopes and fears, season the mixture with humor, and call the result "Rapid Transit."

RADIO INCREASES MUSICIANS' INCOMES

MUSICIANS throughout the country have greatly benefited from radio.

"That is the gist of a report issued by George Engles, director of the National Broadcasting and Concert Bureau. His report shows that out of a total of $30,000,000 spent on music in the United States during the past year, the broadcasting companies have contributed fully $11,000,000. The figures cover only actual performances in concert halls, opera houses and over the air, and do not include what has been spent on recording devices

"Radio expenditures have brought the national total for music up to the highest point in the country's history", Engles states. "The most spent on music previously, exclusive of radio, has been about $20,000,000 in a year. That amount covers both box-office receipts and subsidies of public-spirited citizens who shoulder the deficits of symphony orchestras and opera companies.

"The distribution of musical expenditures among artists has been made much more democratic by radio. In former years the lion's share has gone into the purses of less than 20 of the first rank artists. Three of these artists alone totalled a million dollars in box office receipts last season. But with the broadcasting companies utilizing thousands of musicians, a far greater number of lesser known artists are enabled to earn a comfortable livelihood."

AFFLICTIONS OF YEARS FIND END IN NEW KONJOLA

Well Known Resident of Washington C. H. Relates His Remarkable Experience

MR. SAMUEL DOUGLASS

"I am seventy-eight, and the many people who know me here in my home town, know that for many years I was almost a helpless cripple as the result of rheumatism and other ailments," said Mr. Samuel Douglass, 505 Leesburg avenue, Washington C. H., Ohio.

"They know that I had to walk about on crutches, and they know that for weeks at a time I was confined to my bed, unable to be up and around. For fifteen years I suffered from this terrible affliction, which centered in my knees and lower limbs. Indigestion added to my misery; ailing kidneys got me up as many as eight times a night, and I was miserable all over and in every way.

"My attention was drawn to the many indorsements of Konjola. Could this medicine do me any good? Konjola surely went to the very root of my trouble. Just two bottles of this Konjola banished all my rheumatism, indigestion and kidney troubles. No wonder this Konjola is the most talked of medicine in America."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Adv.

New Methods To Replace Old Ones Prohibition Leaders Say

WASHINGTON April 10 — The [illegible] of the national [illegible] organizations are attempting to [illegible] more scientific [illegible] of carrying on a campaign [illegible] for support of the 18th amendment

The old fashioned ideas of painting the saloon as the chief instrument of the Devil and of displaying flaming posters showing ragged children being beaten by a drunken father have been tossed into the wastebasket

Instead there [illegible] a new [illegible] of [illegible] prohibition as a necessity in an era [illegible] when the average [illegible] a high point of efficiency [illegible] take a place in the rear ranks of the world's procession

Cherrington Father

Ernest H. Cherrington general secretary of the Department of Education of the Anti-Saloon League of America is regarded as the father of the new [illegible]

The characterization by Herbert Hoover of prohibition as a noble experiment has been accepted although some strong prohibitionists still complain of this statement and declare that prohibition is a permanent accomplishment far beyond the experimental stage

"The imperative need for a new type of education were in harmony with the intellectual process of the present age is evident" said Cherrington in a review of the accomplishments of his department

"Arguments that [illegible] their appeal a generation ago need to be rephrased to meet the conditions of a changing [illegible] Much of the data upon which the older prohibition propaganda was [illegible] antiquated

Many Problems

The increasing mechanization of industry the steadily decreasing safety margin on our highways crowded with automobiles the pyramid structure of installment buying which rests upon the [illegible] earning capacity of the abstinent worker the extension of mass production in industry where a single drinker may throw a whole factory out of step the maintenance of the enormous reserves of liquid capital made available for modern finance by the steady accumulation of savings bank deposits by sober people with [illegible] of other significant economic factors must be fully considered in connection with any proposed solution of the alcohol problem

Referring to prohibition as an experiment he said

"We are working out in the United States experiments whose significance [illegible] will be worldwide For the first time in history a great nation has attempted a social policy so far reaching as the complete prohibition of beverage alcohol If the policy is sound as we believe it to be we must insure its success in the United States not alone for the sake of the United States but because of the world wide possibilities involved

BEWARE OF FAKE EYE DOCTORS, WARNING

Pair Reported Operating in Rural Districts of Ohio O C of C Told

COLUMBUS, April 10 — That fake eye doctors who use hypnotic methods are operating in rural districts of Ohio and victimizing farmers who are made to believe they are on the verge of losing their eyesight suffering instantly or possibly having a stroke was the warning broadcast today by the Ohio chamber of commerce here.

Two farmers are known to have given the quack doctors $400 each according to officials of the bureau. The victims reside near West Manchester and near Martinsville.

This scheme was disclosed when a retired farmer near New Madison became suspicious and called authorities.

Relieved of $[illegible]

Word also reached the Ohio chamber heads that a man named Charles Van Deplis who lives near Auburn Mich was relieved of $[illegible] by the same scheme and a farmer in Indiana near the Ohio lines surrendered $400 to the men.

One of the men gave his name as D. Davis of Dayton and the other gave the name Dr. Baker.

The scheme as it was worked at New Madison is comparable to that generally used. The chamber's warning stated in part:

Dr Davis called at the New Madison home three times before he found the man at home for whom he was looking. Upon his third visit the housewife invited Dr Davis to enter the house. He did. When the farmer returned the man began talking farm conditions to him and soon turned the conversation to the discussion of glasses and eyes. Claiming he was a doctor D. Davis examined the man's eyes and also his wife's. Davis claimed that the wife's eyesight was ruined and that she might suffer insanity.

Becomes Suspicious

He then explained that a friend of his, Dr. Baker of St. Joseph's hospital in Chicago was a [illegible] and that Baker was a famous eye specialist. Baker soon entered and affirmed Baker's diagnosis. Baker suggested the use of a certain radium treatment. By placing a small [illegible] Baker said that he had some of the radium fluid with him and that he would treat the woman at home for $400 if they promised to [illegible] they would not reveal he had practiced away from the Chicago hospital.

The farmer became suspicious and called authorities. The men fled.

The farmer near West Manchester who was swindled out of $400 declared he had been hypnotized.

REBELS EXECUTE JUAREZ GARRISON

Insurgents Prepare for Last Stand in Sonora, Government Applies Pressure

By International News Service

With powerful federal forces applying pressure from the northeast and southwest the rebel armies today prepared for a last stand in Sonora.

Gen. J. Andreu Almazan's expeditionary force of more than 10,000 men has completed the subjugation of Chihuahua after a series of successes during which more than 1,000 miles were covered in pursuing the retreating rebel forces.

Juarez was completely evacuated of rebel troops today. Gen. Marcelo Caraveo led the last remnants of the insurgent garrison out of the city late last night.

Caraveo's trains left toward Cases Grandes. Only a civilian guard was left in control of the city to prevent looting.

The federals were reported within 10 miles of Juarez at the time of Caraveo's evacuation. It is understood the federals will enter the city sometime today.

In northern Sinaloa on the west coast the federal army of 15,000 led by Gen. Lazaro Cardenas pressed close behind the rebels there retreating northward toward Sonora. A battle is anticipated at San Blas, Sinaloa where the rebels are said to be concentrating.

Naco, Sonora still is held by the federals. The rebels however plan to make another attack upon the town to prevent the possibility of reinforcement by a third federal force from the north.

BUCK IS PASSED TO DIPLOMATIC CORPS

World Court' Will Settle Social Status of Curtis' Hostess

WASHINGTON, April 10—A world court sitting not in Geneva but here in Washington and composed of some two score diplomatic representatives is going to decide the momentous question that has had Washington all in a lather for a week past.

That question is: Where is Mrs. Edward Everett Gann going to sit at official functions?

Facing his first great crisis as secretary of state and that giving he [illegible] he hardly had his chair warm Henry L. Stimson with true diplomatic finesse side stepped the ticklish question and in the parlance of the half world passed the buck right back to the diplomats themselves.

Consequently if Vice President Charles Curtis' half sister and official hostess is seated below the wives of the ambassadors and ministers at official functions it is the diplomats themselves who will take the onus for it.

A quick decision is necessary if international amities are to be preserved for tomorrow night Senor Don Carlos Davila the Chilean ambassador is giving a dinner at the Pan American Union. Don Carlos had an appointment today with Sir Esme Howard the British ambassador who is dean of the corps and it is likely a meeting of the full corps will be called later to weigh the matter with all the solemnity that is inherent in such a grave matter.

RESULTS OF LEGION CONTEST ANNOUNCED

"American League" Defeats "National" in Membership Drive

Managers of teams in the American league are today boasting of a clean cut victory over their National league rivals. However, this is not baseball, but the final results of the American Legion membership drive in Marion, which was completed last night.

The final results were announced at a meeting of Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, held in the legion Dugout. The Red Sox, managed by D. J. McDonald, won the championship of the American league with 1,000 percentage while the Braves, supervised by E. E. Smith, took the National league honors with a percentage of 700.

Members of the post were given the choice of aligning themselves with any team in either league. The following plan was used for awarding points in the drive: 100 percentage points given for each new member signed up; 50 percentage points for each old member brought back

38 Enrolled

A total of 20 new members were brought into the post as a result of the drive and 18 old members were brought back into good standing. The White Sox, led by Roy F. Smith, took second place in the American league, with 200 percent, while second place in the National league was won by the Phillies, managed by Fred Miller, with a percent of 350. Last place in the National league was taken by the Cubs, who failed to get a point, and the cellar berth in the American league was won by the Tigers, who also failed to score.

At the conclusion of this drive L. Don Jones, who had served as membership chairman, was relieved of his duties and D. J. McDonald and William Marks were appointed leaders in the new membership drive that will start in the near future. This will be in the form of a derby race between Marion and Louisville, Ky., with a certain number of miles being awarded for a new member. Full plans for this drive will be announced soon.

Following the conclusion of the meeting last night the social committee served refreshments.

Appearances of foods and consequences

We often hear the remark that we eat with our eyes, and wonder what it means. Well folks, if you did not think about anything to eat or drink, and you see right in front of you a dish of neat, harmonized, clean, inviting food preparation—immediately your mouth begins to water and appetite starts to demand that you must eat. On the contrary, if you are hungry as a bear and a filthy looking dish, even if the contents are good, was presented to you, instantly a reaction takes place and your hunger becomes dull, you cannot eat any more just then.

At Tender's you will find that extraordinary care is taken just to provide you with perfectly clean and well seasoned and arranged food, more than pleasing to the eye and with that paramount taste that always will take you back again and again.

You are Paying for a Packard Why not Own One?

SEVENTY per cent of those who buy the Packard Standard Eight give up other makes of cars—thousands in the ten to fifteen hundred dollar class. These new owners quickly learn—

That it costs no more to operate and maintain a Packard than their old cars —cars costing even a thousand dollars less

And that it costs no more to own a Packard because Packard owners keep their cars nearly twice as long and drive them nearly twice as far as the lower-priced cars they trade in.

Those who buy on the payment plan find—

That they keep their cars several times as long as it takes to pay for them —a relief to those who have made monthly payments every other year on other cars.

And that on the average, the value of their used cars equals or exceeds the down payment on the new car—leaving each small monthly payment the largest cash outlay in the having of a Packard.

Ninety-four out of every hundred who buy Packard cars never leave the Packard family but continue to buy Packard cars—proof that "Ask The Man Who Owns One" means just what it says.

Now $160 Less

All models of the Packard Standard Eight were reduced $160 on March 4th. The new prices, at the factory, range from $2275 for the Five-Passenger Sedan to $2675 for the Seven Passenger Sedan-Limousine

When may we examine your used car and tell you how easily you may have a luxurious new Packard Eight? You will be under no obligation in giving us an opportunity to serve you.

Lives and Loves of Great Stage Beauties

BY RUTH MORRIS

The Divine Sarah Whose Art Was More to Her Than Life Itself

BY RUTH MORRIS

Marion Star Staff Writer

THERE were two Sarah Bernhardts—both actresses. One was the Sarah that audiences saw and worshipped for her true greatness, the one who portrayed on the stage not only the glamour of Tosca and [illegible] but the poignant tragedy of [illegible] and [illegible] the one who [illegible] an entire world [illegible] with [illegible] magnificent art.

The other was the Sarah of life, an equally [illegible] actress. This was the Sarah who as Henry James said [illegible] the trade of celebrity [illegible] scandals and eccentricities and [illegible] her the most [illegible] of [illegible] in the world. It would be [illegible] if this Sarah more [illegible] were to overshadow the real Sarah, the Divine Sarah whose art was more to her than [illegible].

Bernhardt [illegible] the most amazing combination of human attributes [illegible]. The [illegible] feminine hand that wielded [illegible] sword [illegible] chisel and [illegible] whip—it was [illegible] whims.

The ever-changing chameleon pattern of the Divine Sarah's moods was indeed over-helming. Loyalty she had—to her friends and to her art—yet contracts were to her nothing more than scraps to be cast aside if better opportunities arose. And yet this seemingly inscrutable nature may have been nothing more than deep-seated devotion to her career—the determination to let nothing—not even honesty—stand between her and her destiny. Through all [illegible] she was true to her [illegible]—to reach the heights of her profession. Quand Meme—in spite of everything.

Bernhardt spent a lonely childhood. Her mother traveled a great deal and Sarah spent her early years with nurses and governesses held down by no enduring tie. Of her father little is known. After being educated at a convent (where she stirred up plenty of rows if her autobiography is to be believed) she was sent to the Conservatoire Francais, preparatory school for the National Theater, the Comedie Francaise. Her debut here was marked with none of the acclaim that was [illegible] her in later years. As a matter of fact the actress whom France was later to decorate with the Legion of Honor left France's National Theater in a great huff due to a row with one of its leading actresses.

Sarah transferred her services to the Odeon where she said later she enjoyed the happiest stage engagement of her life. There was no [illegible] at the Odeon as there had been at the Comedie. Sarah got in her first real touch of audience contact, worked hard studying a variety of parts and always ready to jump into any role at a minute's notice.

She remained at the Odeon for [illegible] years and when the Comedie in recognition of her growing popularity and power offered a re-engagement she accepted. She remained with the Comedie for eight years during which all of France bowed to her histrionic genius. In 1880 she retired from the Comedie feeling that more could be gained under her own banner and she freelanced all over the world starting that succession of farewell tours that it seemed would continue forever. England, America, Spain, Russia as well as her own native [illegible] bowed to her genius.

The report that [illegible] into the press did not tend to keep spectators from her performances. One heard of the [illegible] wood coffin that she kept at the foot of her bed to sleep and study her parts in. One heard of the skeleton she kept hanging in her closet and the monkeys and [illegible] that were her pets. At one time the menagerie consisted of [illegible] white [illegible] was encrusted with topazes, two Russian greyhounds, a poodle, a bulldog, a terrier, three cats, a parrot [illegible] a monkey and [illegible] an alligator. All this was not for publicity mention.

During one of Bernhardt's American tours her inability to move about the stage was noticed and then in 1915 came the amputation of her leg due to a chronic inflammation [illegible] knee. But even this did not hinder the indomitable Sarah who lived to make successful tours and add to her fame. Grand Mere.

It may be that the mortals [illegible] her [illegible] all [illegible]

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Side Lights on Love

LOVE trouble marriage and debt are all as easy to get into as a modern girl's evening clothes—and as hard to get out of as an old fashioned corset

"Women do not want chivalry from men in business" says Justice Genevieve Cline. Shush lady! Some of us are still that wishy washy that we just dote on having the men around the office take off and put on our galoshes for us

The modern girl may overwork a man a lot of ways but she is surely giving his imagination a long long rest

This feminine frankness is responsible for the brevity of so many love affairs. Somehow the average man loses all his interest in most women as soon as he has found out what makes 'em tick

You can usually spot a married man by a faint aroma of moth balls in the Autumn and by this mild fragrance of gasoline in the Spring

Half the middle aged women in the world appear to be buying new young husbands these days—and the other half, shooting up the old ones

Every man loves some woman more or less. Usually less—and less—and less

No amount of avoirdupois ever stifled a woman's longing to be somebody's little girl

In the old fashioned novel the poor little beggar maid married Prince Fortunatus and lived happily ever after. In the modern novel the poor young beggar marries the "Million Dollar Princess" and lives happily until the middle of the third chapter

* * *

Give a man plenty of rope — and then watch him get all tangled up with another woman

Black Hawk Planter

FAMOUS Ohio

Grows Corn for Less

The Black Hawk has always been a good planter — long famous for its superior accuracy — variable drop and accurate check rowing.

Now these features have been improved and refined until the Black Hawk aids you as never before to grow corn at low cost. It plants the right number of kernels in each hill and, of even greater importance, plants them every time, assuring a perfect stand. Missing hills cut down the yield but not the cost of fertilizer, preparation and cultivation.

Use a Black Hawk to get a full stand and a bigger yield with the same amount of work.

Republicans to Enjoy Big Margin in Next Congress

PER MAJORITY OF 104 SEEN IN HOUSE

rease May Result in Filling f Vacancies and Settling of Contests

NEW REPRESENTATIVES

ny Picturesque Characters Will Be Missing When Session Opens

ASHINGTON, April 10—Re- can domination of the farm re- and tariff readjustment pro- ms of the special session of the first congress apparently is red in the House where the Re- licans will have the largest ma- ty since the Harding landslide. resident Hoover's party will en- the special session April 15 with per majority of 104, which may increased in the filling of vacancies and settlement of contests. The Republican majority in the first Harding congress was 167.

When the new House is called to order 71 new members will walk to the speaker's desk to take the oath of office. The experience will not be new to nine of them, however, as they have served previously in the House and staged "come-backs" in the November election.

The new House, on the basis of the latest compilation, will be composed of 268 Republicans, 163 Democrats, and one Farmer-Laborite.

Many Missing

Many able and picturesque characters will be missing from the House in the new session, but the addition of four women and the first negro member in many years will strike a new note in that body.

The most conspicuous absentees in the House will be Finis J. Garrett, of Tennessee, minority leader; James T. Begg, assistant majority leader, and Victor Berger, whose retirement leaves the House without a Socialist member.

Garrett made an unsuccessful race for senator while Begg failed in a try at the Ohio governorship. Berger was defeated by his long-time political opponent, William H. Stafford. The defeat of William L. Carss of Minnesota, reduced the Farmer-Laborite contingent to one member, Rev. O. J. Kvale, who defeated Andrew J. Volstead on the plea that he was drier than the author of the national prohibition act.

The House baby members, George H. Combs of Kansas City, also retires, having decided not to seek re-election. Thomas Blanton, the fiery Texan, also retires.

Some Comebacks

Among the come-backs are John N. Cable of Ohio, author of the Cable act restoring citizenship to American women who married aliens and the corrupt practices act. Charles H. Sloan, who voluntarily retired from Congress 10 years after attaining important committee posts, comes back from Nebraska.

William H. Stafford, the conqueror of Berger, is expected to be an active member. In his previous service in Congress he earned the name of "the great objector," having consistently fought against bills which he believed took money from the Treasury without good cause.

Another new member, Louis L. Ludlow, is well acquainted with the ways of congress though he has not been a member. As a veteran newspaper correspondent, he has exercised influence on legislation in the past. Ludlow is the author of a book in which congress was caricatured to some degree, but the new member plans to take his work seriously. He was elected from the Indianapolis district.

The "come-backs" include James W. Dunbar, who replaces Frank Gardener of the third Indiana district; Edgar C. Ellis from the fifth Missouri and Charles E. Kiefner of the 13th Missouri.

Three Ruths

The "three Ruths" are expected to furnish plenty of action in the "feminine bloc" of the house. They are Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick (R) of Illinois; Mrs. Ruth Pratt (R) of New York, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen (D) of Florida. All are known as able women and will be a distinct addition to the present "feminine bloc" of five members.

Oscar DePriest, the one negro member, who succeeded Rep. Martin Madden of Chicago, for years one of the most powerful men in the house, has already indicated that he will be active in the consideration of legislation.

The pages contain a history of the school, interesting facts about the school, a brief account of the school's social activities during the year, a department headed "News," the sporting events of the season and a humor department.

The items are gathered together and taken to the offices of Superintendent George A. Bowman, for completion and binding.

WINS HONORS

Company Headed by Lieut. Sherley Receives Awards in Porto Rico

Lieut. Walter Lee Sherley, former commanding officer of the Harding tomb guard, is winning honors as a military officer in Porto Rico, according to a report received here today from headquarters of the 65th U. S. Infantry in San Juan, the regiment with which the lieutenant is now serving.

Company C, in command of Lieut. Sherley, received four awards in the list of cups and trophies given out in the regiment for achievements during 1928-29, the report says. The report, bearing the signature of the regimental commander, was issued at San Juan on March 28.

The second squadron of the first platoon of Company C was officially designated as the chief combat squad of the 65th Infantry. Company C as a whole was awarded the Haines boxing trophy, the sport shop trophy and the small bore company trophy.

In a small city the reporter has to break everybody in to knowing what a news item is when he is seeking items.

AMERICAN GOLFERS OFF FOR ENGLAND

RYDER CUP IS GOAL OF U. S. STAR TEAM

Prospect Is Good for Britains To Lose at Least Two of Three Championships, Von Elm After Amateur and Glenna Collett Seeks Women's Title

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK April 10—A most ostentatious team of golfers—ladies gentlemen and professionals if you please—will set sail for England late this afternoon on a matter of urgent business They go in the guise of friendship and all is bound to be garlands of heliotrope from the very first. But when it is over and Mr Hagen has delivered himself of his customary rebuke to the populace strictly for its own good the British may not have much left except their self sufficiency and the right to go out on the course and pick divots

In some respects the argosy is the most impressive ever sponsored by American golf and although Robert T Jones will not take part the prospect isn't altogether reassuring to a country that has seen seven of its last eight open championships settle in the states This record has prompted the question what is the matter with British golf and most of us know the answer There is nothing the matter with British golf, except that the boys over there are too ready to do what the photographer tells them They watch the birdie The American doesn't He gets it

Might Lose Out

This being the case it would be mildly surprising if at least one major championship didn't return with the invaders It is possible indeed that all three in addition to the Ryder cup might fall into alien hands that of course wouldn't be a normal development. It would be a miracle Yet the golf is there

First for the capture of the open by the Ryder cup personnel and extraneous professionals second the amateur by George Von Elm and third the women's championship by Glenna Collett Our most plausible chance naturally rests with the open for here we have not only the habit of success but the men to make the habit permanent

For example sailing with the Ryder cup team today are Hagen thrice winner of the British title and its present holder Horton Smith the most sensational medalist of the year Farrell and Diegel respective national open and P G A champions and Sarazen former champion in both of those divisions and a third place winner by the British event last year Al Espinosa Ed Dudley Johnny Golden Joe Turnesa and Al Watrous complete an official team that probably has had no equal in point of skill and prestige These entries ought to be enough but there are more. MacDonald Smith who was beaten out of the title by an unruly British gallery four years ago is already in England getting himself ready for the bid of a life time and Bill Mehlhorn smarting under the implied slight of the Ryder cup committee is going along to show them that mistakes will happen and do

Others May Join

Von Elm is a champ in no man's open tournament either, and with the possibility that Tommy Armour 1927 American champion and John Anderson former title holder of the French title, will join the troupe at the last minute the pilgrimage might seem to be complete in all essential details

Von Elm had a reservation on the boat but hadn't taken it up this morning Neither had Armour Miss Collett was to have sailed on the Majestic but allowed her reservation to lapse However it is understood that she intends going on a later boat

Miss Marion Turtle one of the best and Miss Marion Hollins once national champion will be on the Mauretania with the Ryder cup team Both will be serious contenders in the British championship Miss Turple the more serious of the twain Mrs Edmund Guggenheim as an entry will be somewhat less serious than either Miss Bernice Wall another good one also is dallying with the notion of taking a whirl at the British event If she does she probably will sail with Miss Collett

In any case the women like the amateurs are too few in number to have too great a chance at the title If Von Elm fails for instance the American amateur cause probably will fail with him as only Max Behr of Los Angeles and Josephus Crane the Boston veteran remain as entries and neither is a ranking star

But the open and Ryder cup events form another anecdote entirely we can miss in both but it is very possible that we won't

LEGAL DIFFICULTIES MAY PREVENT FIGHT

New York Commission Stands Pat on Bulow as Schmeling Manager

NEW YORK April 10—The maze of legal difficulties in which Max Schmeling is enmeshed threatened today to block the proposed match between the sensational German heavyweight and Paulino Uzcudun here on June 27

The New York State Athletic commission, replying yesterday to a query from the Illinois commission reiterated its stand that it recognizes only Arthur Bulow as the German's manager Schmeling who dropped Bulow and took on Joe Jacobs as his pilot has steadfastly refused to go through with any match which would net a commission for Bulow

If Illinois and the states under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing association followed the lead of the New York body indications are that Schmeling will remain idle for 18 months until his contract with Bulow shall have expired

26 PLAYERS CARRIED ON PIRATE SQUAD BY BUSH

SHREVEPORT La April 10—The Pirate squad numbered only 26 members today just one above the minimum limit effective June 16, and will not be further reduced until after the playing season gets under way Manager Bush announced The Bucs will play the Detroit Tigers here again today and attempt to make a clean sweep of the series The Tigers fell again yesterday 10 to 3

CUBS WIN SIXTH

HOUSTON Tex April 10—If the Cubs win from Houston today they will have made a clean sweep of the seven game series here The Bruins made it six in a row yesterday by winning 5 to 2 Charley Root will be on the slab today Following the game the Cubs will depart for Kansas City where they stage the last preliminary to the pennant season

Connolly dropped into town a day or two ago and announced he would honor the Gorilla Jones Tommy Freeman fight by crashing the gate at Public auditorium

* * *

SPORTS writers advised the distinguished visitor that the auditorium and the cops at the entrances are pretty tough and that even Houdini's ghost couldn't get in without a ticket They offered Mr Connolly a pass

The great O I stifled a yawn

I've never failed yet he observed modestly It would be a disgrace to my record if I went to a fight on a pass If this place is really tough I may have to disguise as Gorilla Jones But I don't think that will be necessary

IT wasn't A basement entrance did the trick and One Eye watched the fight from the ringside Meanwhile Sergt Harvey Weitzel was chatting pleasantly with the guard at the main entrance

Heh! Heh said Sergeant Weitzel I guess this Connolly bird has found one gate he can't crash Nobody got in here tonight without a ticket

The SPORT-O-GRAPH

—BY FRANK G MENKE—

"LISTEN here" blared James Dougherty smacking me into a corner from which there was no immediate escape "I'm mad d'ya understand—mad clean through I'm so mad that if I had a pound of nails in my hand right this minute and I took two bites at them all that would be left would be one pound of shredded metal!

And furthermore if I can't find somebody who's got nerve enough to fight my George Godfrey I'm liable to capture a couple of battleships and shoot up the whole boxing racket. I ain't got any use for yellow dodgers anyway

"NOW you look here Every heavyweight in the game is too scared of George even to stay in the same city with him They call themselves fighters and yell about being champions and near champions, and yet when I ask em to fight my George they get fainting spells

I thought for a long time that maybe I could coax one or another of those big bluffs to fight George single-handed But I was crazy to hope for anything like that The only time I can even get anybody to think of mixing it with George is when one of those guys or somebody acting for him comes along and propositions me

"YES they'll fight George if I agree that my boy will hold them up—or take a dive There was one fellow who came to me and he had $ 0 000 in his hand which he offered me if I'd agree that George would take a dive for one of those big bums now trying to get a rep That's how game these fellows are They want to be held up or they want George to do a brodie

"I'm all through thinking that there's any one man in the U. S. A. who is courageous enough to fight Godfrey So I am going to make those propositions boys a proposition of my own and it is open for acceptance by any fighters in the game today

"I WILL send Godfrey into the ring against any two heavyweights that have the courage to meet him It will be a case of two men fighting George at the same time. Not only will I let George go into such a fight on the basis of winner take all but I will bet $10 000 that George knocks out both guys within 10 rounds

And furthermore if that brave M Sharkey and that guy Paolino want to team up in tackling George at the same time I'll give them each a $5000 bonus the minute they step into the ring That my offer $5 000 when they get into the ring a side bet of $10 000 that George knocks out both and the fight is to be on the winner take all basis

"AND furthermore" continued James who was in a bargain day mood I'll do more than that I'll let Johnny Buckley who manages Sharkey be the referee and let one of the six or seven managers of Pa[illegible] be the timekeeper and that guy can use his own watch

Squire Dougherty paused for breath and then stuttered

"NOW go and tell the people what I said and try to get that message to Sharkey and and Paolino direct And if those big palookas aren't game enough to accept those terms you can tell them that I'll let each of them carry a pair of horseshoes on their gloves or they can carry knives into the ring too if that will make them feel any safer

But I bazarded suppose they don't care for the proposition?

"YOU don't need to be doing any supposing—they won't care for it" thundered back the usually calm and placid James—calm and placid when the fortunes of Godfrey are not under discussion "The only way that anybody could influence either one of those birds to get back into a ring with George again would be for me to send out George handcuffed and handcuffed with a couple of anvils tied to his legs and with both of those chumps allowed to carry machine guns for shooting purposes

Yep it looks as though James Dougherty broadcasting for Godfrey has taken up the oral fireworks where Paddy Mullins dropped them after Harry Wills went bust! ! !

New York is Outgrowing its Potter's Field as Charity Burials Increase

City Interred 6 770 Human Beings During 1928 and Toll During Recent Flu Epidemic was 100 Daily, Nearly 5 000 of These Were Children

NEW YORK April 10 —New York is outgrowing even its Potter's field

Little Harts Island in the East river which has been the official burial ground for unidentified dead since 1869 is rapidly using up all its available space for the interment of bodies In a very short time no more space will be left for this purpose

Within the last month the cold weather and influenza epidemic has taken such a high toll of human life that nearly 100 burials have taken place daily on Harts Island

The annual report of the department of public welfare which will soon be made public reveals that during 1928 municipal charity gave graves to 6 770 human beings—men women and children to whom none would give private burials

4 900 Children

Four thousand and nine hundred of these unfortunates were children including foundlings and those who came into the world lifeless The majority of the others were so old that they had outlived relatives and friends

Each year sees an increase in the number of the metropolis's unknown dead Occupying the position it does in the world New York annually attracts hundreds of homeless and friendless people from all parts of the western hemisphere When they die there is no one to notify no one to claim the body—except the matter of fact representatives of the city's charitable institutions

Undoubtedly the ingenious methods employed by the police department in tracing the identities of dead derelicts prevents the total of Potter's field burials from being even larger than it is When a body is found without identifying marks or papers on it ten days must elapse before it is sent to the City Cemetery as Harts Island is known During these intervening ten days every possible clue that might lead to the dead person's identity is run down and no expense is spared If at last the body remains unidentified the Harts Island interment follows

It has often been suggested that unclaimed bodies should be destroyed by cremation but this method is impractical in view of the fact that numerous pauper dead are claimed many years after burial

City Burials

In the City Cemetery burials are so made that bodies can easily be found in later years Exhumations are practically daily occurrences The Board of Health issues a permit for the disinterment the Public Welfare Department accepts it and on payment of a fee of $12 the coffin usually a pine box of remarkable durability is removed

New York has had many potter's fields in addition to the present one on Harts Island The most of the parks and city squares are said to have been used for this purpose at one time or another

Recently an application was made to the Superintendent of the Morgue for information regarding the location of the body of a man who had died many years ago The request came from a man of wealth who had learned that his grandfather had died under tragic circumstances and sought his place of burial.

The musty records were searched for days and at last it was discovered that the body was buried in a potter's field that once existed on what is now the site of Washington Square. The coffin of the rich man's grandfather rests under the west support of the Washington arch

Americans can sigh with relief for it is reported that the growing tourist traffic has given a powerful impetus to language study in all parts of Europe, with English taking first place. Hotel men, waiters, policemen, and even railroad employes are receiving intensive instruction.

The angora sweater is beige, with modernistic triangles of red and brown giving it a touch of brightness. The pleated skirt is of matching beige crepe In the center Olive Borden is exceptionally well tailored in suit of brown English tweed with mannish blouse of banana beige, which can make morning shopping a veritable delight

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO Ill. April 10—A sharp break in grain prices followed an early bulge yesterday when a dispatch from Washington quoting a member of House agricultural committee as saying the farm relief bill contained no provision for government finances to buy sell or store commodities was received. Values dropped back to below the previous close but before the end of trading a recovery was made and prices registered small net advances for the day.

Wheat closed 1/4 @ 3/4c higher, Corn was 1/4@1/2c up, oats 1/8c lower to 1/4c higher and rye 1/4@1/2c better. Winnipeg wheat prices again lagged behind Chicago closing 1/8@1/4c lower.

Liverpool Strong

The substantial advance in local wheat prices at the opening hour was made on new buying and strength at Liverpool. The English market was higher than at closing 1 5/8@2 1/8 up due to the domestic advance the previous day and the unfavorable cold wave in Europe. Higher prices here attracted realizing and with the bearish report from Washington prices broke sharply.

Further reports from Washington received after the close said the farm bill was virtually ready for presentation and that it included a revolving fund which was to be loaned out to co-operatives. This apparently stimulated a demand for offer.

Monday's advance had turned sympathy very bullish and a noticeable broadening of outside interest was reported yesterday. Trade was largely confined to the new crop futures. The open interest statement showed that holders of the May took advantage of the sharp upturn to liquidate the decrease being around 1 008 000. Increases in the deferred months made the decrease in the total slight.

There was considerable evening up for the government report. No figures on estimated yield were given but Murray's estimate of condition at 8-5 (which compares with the government figure of 82 6) indicates a yield of 580 000 000 bu. compared with 579 000 000 bu. harvested a year ago. This figure provides for an abandonment of 7 1 per cent.

World Visible Down

A sharp increase of 2 01 000 bu. in the Canadian visible supply was largely offset by Bradstreet's visible which showed a world decrease of 2,050 000 bu. Crop reports were generally favorable. Export business was estimated at 400 000 bu. Manitobas and Durums.

Corn prices took their direction from wheat, mainly. More interest was noted and commission house trade, largely in July and September, was the largest in some time. Decreasing primary receipts, increasing shipments and the possibility of further foreign demand are the stimuli behind the broadening corn trade. Estimates of corn to go out of Chicago with the start of the Chicago fleet on the lakes run as high as 4,000 000 bu. Stocks afloat here already total 1,[illegible] bu.

In the cash market wheat was steady, corn unchanged, [illegible] up; oats 1/2@1c higher; rye dull; barley 1@2 off.

Cars inspected: Wheat, 45; corn, 118, oats, 20; barley, 13; rye, 17.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

With last year's supply of apples steadily diminishing prices on Marion markets are constantly going to higher levels. Most of the fruit now offered is last fall produce and has been kept in storage during the winter. With the decrease in supply the prices advance with but little promise of decrease until the fall apples are available.

California oranges are now bringing around 10 cents a dozen more than before. Prices formerly ranging from 19 to 50 cents are now up to from 30 to 65 cents a dozen.

With the gardens soaked with rains and a promise of warm weather, local produce is coming nearer each day and in a few weeks will be available on Marion markets.
